What happens next?

Technical specifications will be supplied to your graphic designer or a graphic designer can be made available to you at an additional charge. Within three to five days after art is received, a mock-up proof of the art will be submitted to you for your approval and signature. Immediately prior to your campaign launch and prior to the distribution of any boxes, you will be contacted to finalize your preferred distribution area.

Approximately four to six weeks after the approval of your art, your pizza boxes will be delivered to the participating pizzeria(s). Following each distribution of boxes, you will receive a program summary showing the distribution locations and a geographic map of the delivery area. Your program ends with a 'proof of performance' document certifying the boxes were delivered by the participating pizzeria and pinpointing the finalized distribution locations and the time frame the boxes were delivered.

thank you for the delivery...
